

David Priest Joins Kemtile

Kemtile are please to announce that David Priest has joined them to work on sales and estimating with customers on the East of the country. David is 48 years old and has 20 years experience in the flooring industry, the last 7 years with a company working primarily in the food and drink sector of the market.

David said he had chosen to join Kemtile because of their excellent reputation and the quality of their work. On being asked how he felt taking on a sales position in the present economic climate he said. "Parts of the industry are still buoyant. Success at the moment will depend on which market you are in and how you market your services but most important will be how you look after your customers".

Kemtile offer both ceramic and seamless resin flooring and can advise you on the best system without bias. Kemtile are market leaders in supplying tiled floors to the food and drink industry and they lay more tiled floors in food factories every year than any other company. They have been providing seamless resin floors in this industry for almost 30 years.

Kemtile have worked for almost every major brand in the food and drink industry. They understand this very exacting industry, respect its constraints and appreciate its specific needs. When your manufacturing facility demands the highest hygiene standards, to budget and on time call Kemtile on 01925 763045, email all@kemtile.co.uk or go www.kemtile.co.uk.
