

Wiedemann Drawings on Kemtile Website

The Kemtile website had a facelift earlier this year. It's fresh, it's clean, it's new and it has all the features and information you would expect from one of the leading suppliers of hygienic flooring to the food industry. Now technical details of Wiedemann floor drains and manhole covers have been added to the technical library and you can download them in PDF format.

Kemtile are sole UK agents for Wiedemann drainage systems. The range is of the highest quality and very realistically priced. Wiedemann GmbH was founded in 1945 as an assembly company for dairies. In 1951 Wiedemann worked in co-operation with the Milk Research Institute in Kiel to develop a bacteriologically faultless floor drain. This drain is still available as Model 71.

The Wiedemann policy of continual consultation with its customers on hygiene solutions has led to development of an extensive range of products for the food and drink industry

As well as Wiedemann drainage products this extensive technical library contains Product data sheets of all Ucrete products for the food & drink industry, cross section details of Kagetec Ceramic Flooring and Health & Safety sheets for Kemtile cleaning products. Check it out at www.kemtile.co.uk

Kemtile have worked for almost every major brand in the food and drink industry. They understand this very exacting industry, respect its constraints and appreciate its specific needs.
